211 callers will be referred to Santa Fe CONNECT when they need resources. Whether someone needs help for basic needs such as shelter or food, mental health support, senior services or a family crises, 211 is there to help. We provide free referrals to health and human services, government agencies, and community-based organizations.

This statewide service operates two locations in Santa Fe for those who qualify for free tax preparation. For those who earn $57,000 or less, or for senior citizens, tax preparation can return tax refunds and credits for those who are owed them.

GRANTMAKING

United Way of North Central New Mexico is the largest nonprofit funder in the state. Thanks to the generosity of our donors, our grant process provided $3.3 million to support 80 nonprofit programs in four counties in 2021-2022.

There are two opportunities for grants for human service programs in Santa Fe County in 2022 – one opportunity exclusively for Santa Fe programs and the other as part of UWNCNM's annual Community Investment Fund. Visit uwncnm.org/santafecounty to learn more.

We align our grant making to support our education and family stability initiatives, as well as provide for basic needs.

The Santa Fe Collaborative is a group of community members who meet regularly to consider the needs of Santa Fe nonprofit agencies and the citizens of Santa Fe County, and to build collaborations to support the community. To learn more about the Collaborative, contact Leticia.Bernal@uwncnm.org

COVID-19 RECOVERY

In 2020 and 2021, United Way of North Central New Mexico raised and distributed emergency funding to help address the effects of COVID-19:

- Emergency Action Fund: $705,313
- Native American Relief Fund: $255,697
- Feeding Families Fund: $252,441
- COVID Recovery Fund: $217,289

We believe that by combining donations, we can do more good in the community. With each donation, we are closer to becoming a community where everyone is able to live healthy and productive lives.
